Pre-Anesthetic Bloodwork

Since there is always the possibility that hidden conditions exist in your pet, we strongly recommend pre-anesthetic bloodwork. This blood work will assess your pet's blood cell count, which helps look for anemia, infection and clotting issues, as well as a comprehensive panel that includes glucose, liver, kidney and protein levels. It is important to understand that bloodwork does not guarantee the absence of anesthetic complications. However, it may greatly reduce the risk of complications, as well as identify any underlying conditions that need treatment. The fee for performing pre-anesthetic blood work is $90.00.
